Peter Little: What do you like about living in Lakeview?

Jean Butcher: We like the area. It is a small town. Lakeview is big compared to where we came from.

PL: What do you like or dislike about the food system in Lakeview?

JB: It would be nice to have more restaurants. Between the two grocery stores its ok, but they don't have a lot of variety. Maybe they could have more variety. Generally though, I think it is ok. We go to Klamath Falls every six weeks. For the size of Lakeview, I think it is ok.

JB: The produce is a big disappointment. I am used to the produce of CA where I grew up, where the produce was always around.

JB: I would like to see just more family-style restaurants. We have a couple here, but that is not for every day. Something like the Indian Village. I am sure you have heard this, but it was a real gathering place.

PL: What are your thoughts on having a prison here?

JB: It came to a vote while we were first here. As far as I can tell it has had no negative effect in the community. I think it has been great to see them working in the community, like helping them shovel snow for seniors. At first I was skeptical of it, but now I have changed my mind. It has been a plus pretty much all around. I think it is a positive thing.

PL: What would you like to see change or stay the same in Lakeview?

JB: A lot of businesses have closed down here and so I would like to see more retail stores, but I don't think a big chain would do any good here.
