

Oregon State University Serves You and All Oregonians

- Consumer Information—Food buys and nutrition tips, clothing and textile purchase and care, family life, gardening, landscaping, equipment selection and maintenance, home planning and money management . . .
- Forestry—Information and assistance for farm woodlot owners. Measuring, harvesting, conservation practices, government programs, marketing information, Christmas-tree production . . .
- Public Affairs—Extension helps people help themselves, working with many other government and civil agencies and groups. Prominent examples are work in the Town and Country Church meetings, Great Decisions discussion programs, health and safety education programs, and radio, TV, news information service on public affairs . . .
- Agriculture—Research-based information on crop varieties, disease, insect, and weed control, animal science, marketing, management, agricultural buildings and equipment, animal defense and emergencies, safety, tax and business law, government programs . . .
- Marketing—Market information, outlook, educational programs, specialized services by marketing specialists in all major commodities and management of farm business . . .
- 4-H Club Work—4-H Club work is available to all Oregon boys and girls from 7 through 19. Projects include animal and plant science, natural science, mechanics, business and marketing, personal development, creative arts, home economics . . .
- Conservation—Information and current research to demonstrate not only the importance but the HOW of conservation, with the goal of preventing pollution and depletion of Oregon's resources . . .

Cooperative Extension work in Agriculture and Home Economics, Joseph R. Cox, acting director. Oregon State University and the United States Department of Agriculture cooperating. Printed and distributed in furtherance of Acts of Congress of May 8 and June 30, 1914.