

No matter how good your intent Unless you have a Federal permit

Virtually all wild birds are protected by law. Read on:

Possession of protected birds.—No person may take from the wild, otherwise acquire, possess, sell, purchase, transport, import, export, or dispose of any protected birds, alive or dead, or their parts, nests or eggs, except in accordance with the Federal regulations under Parts 10 and 21 of title 50, Code of Federal Regulations. Under these regulations, Federal permits may be issued to qualified persons, authorizing the acquisition, possession, and transportation of protected birds for justified propagating, scientific, educational, taxidermy, and other special purposes under certain conditions.
