Tuesdays with Assessment

What, When, Where, and Who	Description
October
Finding the Keys to Data Warehouse Tuesday, 10-24-06 1-3pm Barnard Classroom (Room 5420) Valley Library Presenter: Carla Simonson—Information Services	Participants will learn the basic content in the OSU Data Warehouse. Users and non-users of the Warehouse who want to learn more about what is available and how to access the information are encouraged to come. Non-users may want to partner with a user in their department to maximize learning. Bring your questions and our expert will help you answer them! (Note: This workshop will not certify people to use Data Warehouse.)
November
The Joy of Managing Data and Making Meaning of It Tuesday, 11-14-06 10-noon MU 211 American Indian Presenter: Eric Hansen and Suzanne Flores—University Housing and Dining Services	Managing data begins at the time of planning the project. Only when the data is good going in is there a chance of it being good coming out. Learn common data management strategies along with basic methods of analyzing data.
Reporting Your Information to Tell a Data-Driven Story Tuesday, 11-28-06 10-noon MU 211 American Indian Presenter: Rebecca Sanderson—Student Affairs Research and Evaluation	Communicating the results of your assessment in ways that will allow your audience to both understand and use the information to improve aspects of a program is essential. Participants will learn common reporting strategies which can be applied to different audiences as well as the components of good project reporting.
December
What Information is Available from the Office of Institutional Research and the On-line IRIIS system? Tuesday 12-5-06 10-noon Barnard Classroom (Room 5420) Valley Library Presenter: Kim Clark—Office of Institutional Research	The on-line IRIIS system is available for use on the Office of Institutional Research web-site. It can be accessed at the guest level by anyone and can provide general student information by term. Learn how to use this resource to make tables and get general OSU information on students. More in depth use requires specific permission and training to access individual student record information.
Working on Assessment Plans and Reports—work session Tuesday 12-12 -06 1-5pm Academic Success Center Computer Lab	Want to work with colleagues to develop your plans and reports for submission on the January 15, 2007 date. This session is a working session so bring your plans and your materials for developing the reports.
