University of Kansas Libraries – Background

ARL

9 libraries, 7 on campus

Ranked top 50 in nation in volumes held

First public university in U.S. to pass an open access policy

Role of academic libraries is changing from:

- Collecting External Resources and providing access and services related to those resources to

- Engaging in Life-Cycle of Scholarship Produced on Campus

The Research Life-Cycle*

- Discover
- Gather
- Create
- Share

*Jim Muehlenberg, "Discover, Gather, Create, Share – A Research Lifecycle View," Project Bamboo, <https://wiki.projectbamboo.org/display/BPUB/Discover,+Gather,+Create,+Share+--+A+Research+Lifecycle+View>

- Share “...includes all aspects of dissemination: participating in conferences and scholarly meetings; publishing; teaching; sharing data, ideas, resources, drafts, and completed works. Issues of intellectual property and copyright are especially important, as well as all activities scholars undertake while preparing reports, theses, presentations and manuscripts: identifying high impact journals, conferences, and publishers, and all the protocols and procedures for successfully disseminating one's work.”
